ABOUT FISH HOOKS

Did you know that California Indians made them of bone and abalone shells before the white man came?

That until 1940 this country imported most of its fish hooks from Europe, but that we now turn out more than half a million hooks for ourselves every day?

That during the war the government rated fish hooks so important that they were given an "A-1" priority rating?

That one American company filled an order for 120,000,000 cod and halibut hooks—and that Iceland was the customer.

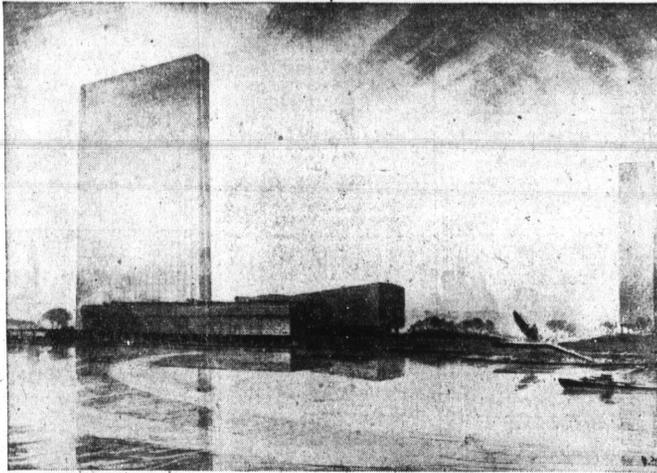

That fish hooks, since the stone age, have been a vitally important implement for the human race.

That Leonardo da Vinci, among other inventions, devised a machine for sharpening fish hooks?

Like many other virtues, hospitality is practiced, in its perfection, by the poor.

—Mrs. Kirkland

Future World Capital Sketched by U.N. Planners

How the future "world capital"—the Headquarters of the United Nations in New York—will look is shown in this drawing of the general architectural layout. The 40-story skyscraper (left) will provide offices for the U.N. staff, while the low buildings nearby, overlooking the East River, will contain meeting halls for U.N. organs. A proposed building (right) to house national delegations to U.N. would be constructed at the north end of the 18-acre site. The general layout, approved by a 10-nation Board of Design Consultants, which worked with U.N. planners, headed by Wallace K. Harrison, will be followed by more detailed planning of the group of buildings.

Vets Offered Best Jobs At Navy Air Base

The best job in Southern California, if you're a discharged sailor or marine, is at the Naval Air Station, Los Alamitos (Long Beach).

In fact, it's so good, it's surprising there are any vacancies left. Uncle Sugar's generosity is little short of startling. At Los Alamitos you can draw good part time pay for week end work.

For instance, you can get the same rating you had at the time of your discharge, and perform the same type of duty. For voluntarily attending a three hour refresher period every other week end, you receive two days pay in rate or rank. You may come on full active duty for a two weeks period each year, thus bringing the total take home pay to two full months salary during the year. Many of the larger firms are permitting two weeks of military leave in addition to regular vacations, and many are even allowing their regular pay to go on for this period. In addition to this there are the usual Navy privileges such as shopping at ships' store, laundry and dry cleaning, cheap movies, swimming pool, bowling alleys, and other forms of recreation. Your wife and family can come aboard with you and enjoy these same privileges.

While the establishment of a permanent reserve aviation base in this area is important to our national defense, it also means a permanent payroll for military and civilian personnel. This is currently running at the rate of $2,000,000 a year. Twenty-four reserve squadrons are organized and in training.

However, the actual financial opportunity to earn money in your spare time is what makes this the best job in this area. The whole program has been aptly named "A HOBBY with a FUTURE." Association with the organized units of the reserve is the first step for those who are interested in eventual full time duty at the base.
